

Cell size measurement by single mode laser light back reflexion

Identification of single-cell based size distribution inside a cell suspension

Clear distinction between populations
Capture of population heterogeneity